

Please note that links to other sites are monitored but we cannot be held responsible for information contained in other sites. We provide the links for your own convenience and do not endorse the content. Please refer to individual websites for more information on their own legal statements.

Business Process Mapping Links

Open Source (free) Business Process Mapping Software and Tutorials are available at:

<http://archi.cetis.ac.uk/download.html>

<http://sourceforge.net/projects/archimate/>

<http://www.opengroup.org/archimate/downloads.htm>

The next one is Tibco. Not free - but provides access to a demo version that is quite powerful.

<http://www.tibco.com/>

Bizagi is very powerful. You can design processes (swim lanes) from which data flowcharts, forms and eventually workflow systems can be built.

Bizagi uses BPMN (Business Process Modelling Notation) which is very popular at the moment. Free licences may be available for training institutions. Visio diagrams can be imported.

<http://www.bizagi.com/>

Sourceforge is a website worth visiting. Search for what you want.

<http://sourceforge.net/>